Ethnic Communities Violence Prevention Innovation Fund – Funding Recommendations

Action: For Approval

Purpose

This memo seeks your approval of the successful Ethnic Communities Innovation Fund recipients.

The Innovation Fund is a key component in understanding the prevention of violence in ethnically diverse communities

The Ethnic Communities Innovation Fund (Innovation Fund) aims to promote the safety and wellbeing of ethnic people by supporting community-driven initiatives for preventing family and sexual violence. The funding enables the community to develop and deliver solutions and activities within their local and cultural contexts.

The Innovation Fund is a critical aspect of the Ethnic Communities Violence Prevention (ECVP) programme and will allow for development of an expanded evidence base that aims to better inform long-term sustainable funding for prevention initiatives and activities specifically for ethnically diverse communities.

We help New Zealanders to be safe, strong and independent

Details of the Innovation Fund were made publicly available through a wide range of MSD and other agency communications channels, including via Te Puna Aonui and the Ministry for Ethnic Communities newsletters.

The funds have clear aims and processes to determine impact

This is a conditional grant fund, as successful applicants are required to deliver their initiative under one or more of the three focus areas below:

1. Developing and testing activities with change-ready ethnic communities and providers throughout the country.
2. Building our collective knowledge and insights into ethnic communities, generated by, and for, ethnic communities.
3. Establishment and development of ethnic-specific services and support to grow the capability and capacity of the sector.

Successful applicants will provide short monthly reports during the delivery period of their initiative, and a final report at the end of the 12-month delivery period.

The monthly, and final, reports will contribute to and expand the evidence base for prevention in ethnically diverse communities. They will allow MSD to gather data to understand the impact of prevention in specific regions and ethnic groups across Aotearoa New Zealand.

A robust selection process was followed to identify recipients for the Innovation Fund

The team worked closely with MSD's legal and contracting teams to ensure a robust selection process was followed to determine the most suitable Innovation Fund recipients.

A pre-evaluation was carried out by Shazia Gazi (ECVP Team Leader) and Sally Clarkson (Former Refugee and Migrant – E Tū Whānau – Team Leader) to determine eligibility.

Following the pre-evaluation, the eligible applications were reviewed, assessed and deliberated by a panel of experts. The voting members of the panel included:

- Joe Lim (Senior Advisor, ECVP Team)
- Samira Ghoreishi (Senior Advisor, ECVP Team)
- Jenny Janif (Senior Advisor, Former Refugee and Migrant team - E Tū Whānau)
- Cristy Trewartha (community mobilisation expert)
- Sripriya Somasekar (FVSV in ethnic communities expert).

Non-voting members included: Sheetal Samy (Senior Advisor, ECVP Team) as the chair, and Ngahuia Wright (ECVP Team Admin) as the minute-taker.

The expert panel considered the following when choosing the successful applicants:

- ethnic diversity
- regional spread across the country
- support for different age groups
- rurality
- types of initiatives
- the ability of the initiative to build evidence and learning about family and sexual violence prevention in ethnically diverse communities.

The panel met from 7-9 February 2024 in Wellington to assess the applications. Twenty-five projects – at a total of $1,065,000 – were identified for funding.

The panel’s recommendations regarding the organisations to receive the funding are attached, along with a brief summary of each project.

Recommendation

It is recommended that you:

agree to fund 25 projects under the Ethnic Communities Violence Prevention Innovation Fund, at a total of $1,065,000 – as recommended and advised by the expert evaluation panel.
